It's Story Time!

Dear Parents and Teachers,

We would like to help teach your children to love life and love to read. That's why we are sharing some of our best short stories for kids, at no cost to you on the Story Time blog!

Bring the kids and stop by often to find out what Tommy is up to in the Creative Creation series or maybe you will hear from Violet now and then! We even have a couple of talking trees, a butterfly and a pumpkin to drop you a line from time to time.

Who is the funny looking, pink thing that keeps showing up? She's Harmony, a human cell, who teaches children to love healthy food!

Each of our characters has something very valuable to share.

Our books and stories present real life lessons, healthy habits, good morals and encouragement to your children in a fun and positive way! We are positive your kids will love to read them and so will you. You can print them to read to the little ones at bedtime, then share them with your friends, your neighbors, teachers and even your class at school.

Tips for Teachers and Parents

We love your kids, so we are also sharing good, free advice for parents and teachers. What a bonus! Our Apple Pie authors are parents and teachers. We also have a Million Dollar Health Coach and a soldier. In other words, we are a diversified team with the life experience and credentials it takes to help you raise healthy, happy kids, even in today's challenging world...without going to another location to find it.
